Plasma

Plasma is a flexible concept in public seating. The Plasma Bench functions perfectly as individual abstract piece, but can also be used in different combinations to form more unique and distinctive spaces. The 4 different sizes facilitate various possibilities in terms of expression and functionality. The large Plasma is more than three and a half meters long, which allows room for up to 10 people at the same time. The organic shape also offers advantages in terms of functionality. For instance, people are able to face each other while sitting on the Plasma. The optional contrast stitching offers unique and creative combinations. Winner of the IF Design Award and The Good Design Award.
